

TOXIC IVERMEC POISONING

Hi. My name is Theresa and I'm a breeder.

We nearly lost a puppy from our Kennel because a vet was unwilling to heed the warning of his owner on Aussies and their potential to reactions to medications.

After 2 GM Seizures and dying twice on the table in the Pet ER, he did make it by a wing and a prayer. This dog was NORMAL/NORMAL for MDR1 and perfectly healthy before the Neuter.

After my Internist reviewed the file he alerted to the fact that the Vet used everything that works against the system of Aussies in the Anesthetics department that are risky for Aussies and the Collie breeds as a whole.

This is what I want to share.

Even if your Aussies are MDR1 Normal/Normal - PLEASE treat them as if they are Mutant. There is not enough education on this subject to confirm they are safe from certain drugs or even small doses of Ivermec.

This was also confirmed recently by a friend that one of her puppies died to Ivermec Poisoning just after eating the fecal of sheep who had just been dosed within a few hours. The puppy was NORMAL/NORMAL. This subject is huge.

So just treating them as Mutant is the safer way.
